

John Sheridan is the Digital Director at The (UK) National Archives. He has overall responsibility for the digital archive and a range of digital services.

His academic background is in mathematics and information technology, with a degree in Mathematics and Computer Science from the University of Southampton and a Master's Degree in Information Technology from the University of Liverpool. John has a strong interest in open standards development and open data, with experience as a former co-chair of the W3C e-Government Interest Group.

John Sheridan